It pays to ponder: PORTER performs live at the Viper Room

WEST HOLLYWOOD, Ca. (March 12, 2009) – PORTER, the refreshing young artist from Los Angeles, will perform live at the Viper Room in West Hollywood on April 10, 2009.

Just 24-years-old, PORTER possesses an uncanny ability to convey precisely the inner-workings of a tortured soul, the joy of a delightful spirit, or simply the inquisitiveness of an observation.

But there are no false pretenses here. PORTER doesn't simply have a passion for her art; she respects it. For PORTER, the message takes precedence over ego, as indicated on her recording PreLoved from her first CD, Self-Fulfilling Prophecy. Two years in the making it was well worth the wait.

Showing incredible restraint on The Start, PORTER ponders whether she and a friend have “tip-toed over the friendship line” as they dare to begin a love affair. She is a necessary messenger for anyone who's over today's “typical-pop-Top-40's” tunes, which often lack originality and creativity.

She's the perfect balance of an edgy Joan Baez crossed with a less-stressed Alanis Morissette. Yes, PORTER goes deep. And her rising star is much deserved.

Check her out up close and personal on April 10, 2009 at the Viper Room in West Hollywood, CA. PORTER can also be heard online at:
